tions, March 24.-The farewell banquet to White law Reid, the retiring United States Minister, was given this evening in the saile de of the Hotel Continental. The great hall was trimmed with the American and French polors and the lower half of the walls was bewers of palms and flowers. At of the hall was the band of the Garde Republicaine, which during the dinner and beon the teasts, played French and American irs, concluding with "The Star Spangled

Three hundred covers were laid on twelve table, and every place was filled by reprenehmer and members of the col by in Paris. In the place of age at the table at the head of the room sat Mr. John H. Harres of Drexel, Morgan & Co.; on his right Mr. held and on his left M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Others at the table of honor were: M. de Freyeinet, Minister of War and ex President of the Council; Gen. Brugero, representing President Carnot's military household; M. Jules Roche, Minister of Commerce: Senators Jules Simon and Girard. Consul-General Adam F. King, and others. At other tables were: Senator Waddington, gen, Winslow, Major Post, Count Montfauliun, John Monroe, William Seligman, the Rev. Edward Thurber, and many others. After the dinner Chairman John H. Harjes rapped for silence and proposed in a few words the health of Presidents Carnot and Harrison. He then speke to the tonst of the evening: "Our guest, his Excellency, Mr. Whitelaw Reid." He wished Mr. Reid all success in the future.

his Excellency. He did all success in the future. He wished Mr. Reid all success in the future. He wished Mr. Reid all success in the future, and said that he would carry away with him the best wishes of all who had known him harls. By his learning, courtesy, hospitalit, and dignity Mr. Reid had secured the confidence of France, which had allways welcomed Americans to her shores. It was not surprising that all admired Mr. Reid and his attainments, and it was to be hoped that upon the Minister's return to the United States the country would invest him with new honors. Mr. Harles then read the following address, engressed on parchment, bearing the signatures of the large executive committee who arranged the banquet in Mr. Reid's honor: His Early may the Han Whiteless Reid, Encoy Perram-

"Your truitful labors for copyright and for the repeal of the duty on works of art have likewise earned you the appliance of your countrymen, and, as a crowning act of your tareer, the long negotiations for the removal of the first importance to the United States—after unceasing efforts extending over eleven years, have been triumphantly closed through the vigor, tact, fand wisdom of your exertions.

"The thoughtful courtesies you have extended not only to those resident in, but to Americans passing through, Paris, as well as to the members of the Government and people of France, in which you have been so effectively aided by your accomplished wife, have strengthened and confirmed the reputation of our country for kindly hospitality.

"In fact, it can be truthfully said that no American Minister has more faithfully and admirably administered his trust than yourself, in view, therefore, of the universal appreciation of your character and services, we have youtured to tender you this farewell banquet, and we beg to express the hope that in returning to your native land, with the added experience of well-spent years abroad, you will find now fields of usefulness, the increasing regard of your countrymen, and the enjoyment of every happiness."

Upon rising to respond to the address Mr. Reid was greeted with cheers and applause, which lasted for two or three minutes before he was able to make himself heard. After deprecating the praise which he had just received as beyond his merits, he continued:

recating the praise which he had just received as beyond his merits, he continued:

"The greeting which has been accorded to me here to-night has been enhanced because given by my countrymen. My regret at partial is deep, but it is diminished by the reflection that I shall meet you all early and often in the best land on which the sun shines.

"My office here has not been a sinceure. There was the Paris Exposition at the beginning, and there is the Chicago Exposition at the end. Duties consequent upon the McKinley bill, the pork, reciprocity, and extradition necotations, and especially my obligations to Americans visiting Paris left me little leisure.

"President Harrison and Mr. Biaine thought that my office would afford me a pleasant vacation in Paris. Now, however, I am about to return to New York for my wheation. That is the true secret of my return. I shall not seek further office, but shall resign.

"I certainly have enjoyed my post, and I shall cherish all my lifetime the pleasant souvenits of my residence here. The possibilities of courtesy have been exhausted upon me since my acrival here by the Government, the people, and the press, and for this I now tener my thanks. I have received the steadlest support and cardiality of the immense American colony. I do not know who my successor will be, but my best wish for him is that you treat lim as you have treated me. have never been a secret, but they have been kept for home use. Here we all arc of one party.

Ally successes which I have achieved are due to the clear policy of the Washington Gavernment and to its generous support of myself. I wish to neknowledge equally the courses of France and her sincere desire to promote her friendship with the United States, it is peculiarly satisfying to know that, even if we have not obtained all we have wanted from France, at the negotiations have been conducted without injury to the relations which have existed between the nations for more than a century. May we not believe that these relations are destined to become still more inimate. Yearsthing shows that France is coming to Cheare, as she should, in the frost like, with tanners firing. As we see her she represents the highest achievements of informacy, legislation, and letters. I see the time approaching when we shall know each other better and esteem each other more highly when the two Governments, bearing forward the torch of liberty, which the grand-lathers of these men helped to light in America, and which, flashing neross the Atlantic, evenied to the they are of our emancipation, shall lead not merely in the civilizing of two continents, but also in developing the order, likery, protress, and humanity of the world. Fliadly, I would repeat on behalf of America the earliest decire for France that the reputition which she has chosen will endure for all generations ever being that which has brought to us Americans stability, prosperity, order. "Mr. Reid had spoken English, but clerk of the appointment division of the Interior Department, appeared as a witness before the special Pension Investigation Committee of the House to-day, and, at the request of Mr. Enloe, produced the papers in the case of F. M. Taylor, containing testimonials from Representative Farquhar, Senators Farwell and Cullom, Commissioner Raum, and others, Commissioner Raum, who was next called said that he did not approve of the action of Secretary Noble in young Raum's case, dismissing him without a trial. He further said that he endeavored to give all his employees fair play. Mr. Enloc asked what he thought of his own treatment of the seven special examiners charged with giving information to the newspapers. Gen. Raum said that he had excellent information that these men were endeavoring to injure him. Mr. mation, and Mr. Raum said that Gen. H. V. Boynton gave the information as to where the articles originated. The witness added that one Fleming was writing articles in the attempt to injure him, and these men were assoclates of Fleming. "W. J. Brooks, a special examiner in the office, gave him information as to the associations of these men, as did several others, and." continued the witness, examiner in the onice, gave him information as to the associations of these men, as did several others, and." continued the witness. "my action in their case was just." He did not give these men a hearing upon the information he had received. Gen. Raum said that Taylor was found lurking around the door of his offlee, and endeavoring to find out his movements; also that these special examiners kept up a continuous rumor that he was going to resign.

THE PENSION INVESTIGATION. stoner Raum Tells Why He Dis

The treatment of the seven special agents was again touched upon, and the Commissioner said that he still felt that he had acted justy in his treatment of them. Mr. McCullough, one of the seven offered a written explanation of his conduct which was satisfactory to the witness, and he had been restored to office. In the case of Payne, another of them, an explanation was made and accepted, and when a vacancy occurred he would be reappointed.

Mr. Enloe asked if witness did not dictate the letter of McCullough and then have the man sign it. Commissioner Haum said that the letter McCullough first presented was unsatisfactory, and in conversation the man made statements not contained in the letter. Those statements were embedied in another letter, and it was accepted. Mr. Enloe again asked the whereabouts of Mr. Lineweaver. The question caused some axcitement yesterday, Mr. Isaum refused to tell, but said he had gone away on proper official business.

The case of I van Summerlin, a discharged employee of the Pension Bureau, next came up. The Commissioner said his dismissal was recommended by J. G. Cannon on the ground that Summerlin was a strong partisan. The dismissal of Gen. James Dugan was next discussed. Commissioner Raum read to the commistee a letter,written by a chief of a division in which it was stated that Dugan used very disrespectful language about the Commissioner. The chief heard him say: "Lemon is the Commissioner and Raum is his deputy."

Upon being cautioned about using such language Dugan said he had nothing to retract dem. Raum said he recommended to th

Yesterday he hanged himself to the transom of his bedroom door. He left behind him a letter, written in German, to his handlady, Mrs. Hochheimer. One hundred kioliars, the lotter said, was due from the lodge, which was sufficient not only to pay his funeral expenses but the £15 he owed her for board. Among the funeral expenses was included the cost of a carriage for her to drive in to his grave. Mrs. Hochheimer was away from home at work at her trade of laundress when Rogge committed suicide. He had locked the door of her apartment on the ground floor of the rear tenement at 305 West Thirty-ninth street, and she had to got a chair and climb in the window. The Elections in Japan.

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 24.-The steamship Empress of India arrived here yesterday morning, eleven days and fourteen hours from Yokohama and Hong Kong, bringing 250 tons of general cargo, including 200 bales of silk. she had 50 saloon passengers, 300 Chinese, and brought 50 sacks of mail.

The Japanese elections are over, and as far as can be learned the majority against the Government is increased. Its only members Government is increased. Its only members whose political bias can be decided belong to the Liberals and Progressionists, who united under Count Stagaki and Okurma to oppose the Cabinet in the last House, but many remain unatta-ened to any party, and only the meeting of the House will show the relative strength of the parties.

Count Ito, the father of Constitutional Government in Japan, resigned his post of President to the Privy Councillor on Feb. 23. No cause was given, but it is generally believed that Ito intends to form a new party. The Emperor desires and has requested the Count to withdraw his resignation, but this he has not done.

YOUR'E TELLING A FALSEHOOD." Election Amenities in the Park Avenue Bap-tist Church of Plainfield.

PLAINFIELD, March 24.-The Park Avenue Baptist Church of Plainfield had the liveliest meeting in its history last evening. Two months ago the Rev. Asa Reed Dilts, the pastor of the church, announced from the pulpit that unless a certain claim of $800 was paid by the church, he should feel it his duty to resign. A committee of deacons appointed to consider the matter refused to discuss the claim at all, saying that it would simply lay open old sores.

saying that it would simply lay open old sores. This decision they communicated to the paster, who thereupon resigned.

At a meeting called to consider the pastor's resignation a week ago Nelson Runyon denounced the proceedings of the deacons and in an excited speech called upon the church to stand by the pastor in his decision. Mr. Kunyon is ax-City Judge of Plainfield, and a prominent Republican. His words were not pleasing to Peter Wyckoff, a New York fruit broker, who is a Democrat. to Peter Wyckoff, a New York fruit broker, who is a Democrat. Mr. Wyckoff denounced such innguage as entirely out of place in a church meeting, and after a while Mr. Runyon subsided.

Last night the annual election of deacons took place. The two reiring deacons, William Tallman and Charles Haines, were renominated. Mr. Tallman was elected without any opposition, but the friends of the pastor were lying in wait for Deacon Haines. He was the one who had told the church of the determination of the deacons not to consider the pastor's recommendation. Seely Edsall, one of the most successful merchants in Plainfield, was nominated in opposition to Mr. Haines. Mr. Edsall wasn't present to accept or decline the nomination. Four ballots were taken, thirty-four votes being cast on each ballot, of which Mr. Edsall received twanty and Mr. Haines fourteen. Mr. Wyckoff then secured the floor and suggested adjournment. "It is not possible," said he. Jorus to reach a conclusion to-night. I think it extremely doubtful whether Mr. Edsall would accept the position even if elected. Indeed, I am quite sure about it."

Ex-Judge Runyon jumped to his feet, exclaiming. "Why don't you tell the truth?"

I am telling the truth, "replied Mr. Wyckoff. "No, you're not. You know you're telling a falsehood," exclaimed Judge Runyon. Mr. Wyckoff appealed to the church to stand by him.

Charles Wilson finally secured the floor, and said that he had talked with Mr. Edsall, and had been told by him that he would serve if had been told by him that he would serve if elected.

"There's evidence for you," shouted Mr. Runyon. "What do you think of that?"
Pastor Dilts was violently pounding the table and attempting to secure order. A dozen people were on the floor at the same time, and confusion prevailed.

"Let's take another ballot," shouted the pastor, and the church members fell to balloting again. A half dozen additional ballots were had without different result, and an adjournment was taken. On Wednesday night the battle is to be resumed, at which time the remaining deacon, the church treasurer, and the church clerk are to be elected. It is possible that Mr. Kunyon may receive church discipline on account of his language. Some of the older heads in the church are advocating it

THINK DOLOGHAN KILLED HER.

Newark Police Looking for the Husband of

Since the identification of the woman who vas found in the Passaic River on Sunday as Mary Dologhan of Newark, suspicion has fallen upon her husband, Lawrence Dologhan, as her murderer. She was married to Dologhan a year ago, and had then been a widow for three years. Dologhan had served in the steamers. They lived at 100 Clay street, where navy and as a fireman and oller on ocean steamers. They lived at 100 Clay street, where they occupied an upper floor. Other people living in the house say that Dologhan never worked after his marriage, and that he was frequently drunk and beat his wife. They say that he struck her and blackened her eye on Thursday of last week.

On Saturday Mrs. Dologhan tried to borrow thirty cents, saying that her husband wanted to go to New York. Failing in this she sold a plated watch chain for lifty cents to Mrs. Wundling, who lived on the floor below. Dologhan left the house soon afterward. Mrs. Dologhan was seen going into the cellar for wood at nightfall on Saturday, and was not again seen alive. Dologhan did not return to his home, it is said, after he left Saturday morning.

Dologhan is described as short and stout, with a red face and sandy moustache. He wore a blue flannel shirt and a brown overcoat when he went away. He is 35 years old.

Patrick Clare and Charles Brown, brothersin-law of Dologhan, ran across him yesterday afternoon at West and Canal streets. They had come on from Newark to find him. He made no effort to avoid them. They called Policeman Fletcher of the Prince street station, and told him that Dologhan was suspected of wife murder Fletcher arrested Dologhan said he Prince street station Dologhan convinced Capt. Thompson that Mrs. Dologhan said he Prince street station Pologhan was not murdered by her husband. Dologhan said he had a spat with his wife eight days ago and that she "was accidentally hit over the eye with an umbrella." He said she acted queerly, and, thinking she was out of her lead, he went for the parish priest, who came around next morning (Priday). She was all right then. He left home on Saturday night. Dologhan spent all day Sunday with Fitzsimmons, according to Fitzsimmons himself. He says he was just about to start for home when arrested. He was taken to Newark by Detectives Hull and Cosgrove of the Newark Police Department.

THE RHODE ISLAND CAMPAIGN. Republicans Helping the Democrats to Ger in the Nominating Papers.

Province March 24.-Mr. Cleveland has

The date has not been fixed, but it is certain that he will speak in made for his coming. The date has not been fixed, but it is certain that he will speak in this city. On Saturday night a mass meeting of Democrats is to be held in Music Hall. A telegram was received yesterday from Congressman Bynum of Indiana announcing that he will be present. Congressman Bynum of Indiana announcing that he will be present. Congressman Bryan, the young Nebraska orator, also sent word that he would come to Rhode Island and deliver an address upon any night that the Democratic State Committee might select. The Republicans will fight vigorously. Senator Aldrich came home from Washington yesterday, and will remain during the campaign. McKinley, Reed, and Tracy are coming here, but the exact dates have not yet been agreed upon.

The Republicans of the Legislature have decided to help the Democrats of Lincoln out of the muddle they got into in attempting to file with the Secretary of State their legislative nomination rapers. The papers should have been filed before midnight on March 22, but they held the papers back and substituted one man's name for another to catch the French Canadian vote. The papers were filed ust as the clock struck the midnight hour, but they were unsigned. The Democrats besieged for the passage of an enabling act. The Republicans, through Representative Wilson of East Providence, to-day offered such a bill, which was referred to the Committee on the Judiclary, who will investigate the charges of a fraudulent change of names in the official paper.

More a Cleveland Detent than a Victory in Boston, March 24.-A Cleveland victory was nnounced last night as the result of the Democratic caucuses, but a careful scrutiny f the tickets to-day has given the Mugwumps an unpleasant surprise. In only nine of the twenty-five wards did the delegates declare for Cleveland. Hill got three delegations openly, but many of the delegates with "no preference" are known to be Hill men, bussell is first choice in only three wards, but second in nearly all.

There is an untried indictment still hanging over his head in the United States Circuit Court. He was indicted by the Federal Grand Jary about the time Janues D. Fish was, and has never been tried on that count.

United States District Attorney Mitchell said yesterday that the indictment was found before he took charge of the office, and that he did not know yet whether it would be taken up or not. The matter, he said, will probably be looked into before Ward's term of imprisonment expires. ment expires.

JUMPED IN TO SAVE HER BROTHER Mabel and Wille Would Both Have

Mabel Swain, S years old, and her 6-year-old brother Willie, were playing yesterday morning about the pier at the foot of East 120th street with their 3-year-old half sister Lillie and Belle Dunn, a neighbor. The children in the neighborhood say that Belle snatched Willie's hat off and threw it into the river. A steep, narrow gangway runs down nearly to the water's edge in the centre of the pier, while the pler itself reaches eight feet above

Willie began crying, and his sister ran down the gangway and leaned over to catch the hat, while Willie ran to the edge of the pier to watch the rescue. In his anxiety he lost his balance and pitched overboard. In an instant he was swept ten feet from the pier, and Mashel jumped overboard without hesitation to save her brother. She found herself as helpiess as he, but the pier broke the force of the tide, and her struggles carried her only a fow feet from the pier.

Belle Dunn ran screaming to the Harlem Hospital, and told Policemen Ward and Mickert of the accident. When they reached the pier the boy was 100 feet from land. There was a life preserver with a rope attached in the office on the pier. Meckert secured it and threw it to Mabel. She selzed it and was drawn ashore.

Meantime Ward had thrown off his coat and plunged overboard. With the tide to help him he reached the boy in a few minutes. The struggle was to get back. The boy was unconscious and the officer was burdened with most of his heavy winter clothing. When he got the child ashore Willie was taken to the hospital. He had swallowed a good deal of water, and Dr. Kahlo worked over him for half an hour to bring him back to consciousness. Both children were doing well at the hospital last night. They live at 243 East 120th street. Policeman Ward is about 30 years old and has been on the force about four years. He came from City Island, where he had had experience as a boatman.

RAMSEY OF RAMSEY'S ACQUITTED.

Judge Martine Not Pleased With the Ver-dict and He Tells the Jury So. The jury before whom David H. Ramsey of Ramsey's, N. J., was tried, in the General Ses sions upon the charge of shooting his wife, Annie E. Ramsey, on May 22, 1890, came into court at 11% yesterday morning, having been locked up all night. They found Ramsey not guilty. Judge Martine evidently was surprised by the verdict. Lawyer George F. Elliott. Ramsey's counsel, shook hands warmly with his smiling client, and then turning to the bar thanked Judge Martine for his courtesy and fairness throughout the trial. "I feel bound to say, Mr. Elliott," said Judge Martine, "that you are entitled to be congratulated greatly upon the result of this trial I confess that the evidence led me to expect a very different result. I am sorry to be compelled to say that it is exceedingly lamentable that juries are inclined to give the greatest encouragement by their verdicts to this particular class of crimes, shooting affrays. The natural result is seen on every side of us. Crimes of this kind are growing more numerous daily, and in my judgment the blame must be placed upon inprors who refuse to act upon the evidence, and who travel outside of it to find excuses for a verdict. The jury box has become a nursery of such crimes. Your client is discharged. Judge Martine said to a reporter, after the jury was discharged, that he regarded the verdict as wholly unwarranted by the evidence. At the first hallot, on Wednesday afternoon, after the jury retired to their room, it is understood that eight jurors voted for conviction and four for acquittal. I confess that the evidence led me to expect a

MR. KEENE PAYS MORE OLD DESTS More Than a Million Paid Of New and Re Expects to Clear the State.

James R. Keene, the Wall street operator, settled yesterday seventeen more judgments aggregating $53,000. The judgments were obtained about seven years ago, the largest being in favor of Atterbury & Tillinghast, $19,038; Francis E. Wolfs, $5,520; J. A. Tschirhart, $4,814; E. Fibel, $4,000; Carolin & Cox, $3,822; M. Shitler, $2,753; T. H. Banks. $2,213; Thomas H. P. Farr, $2,210; S. W Milbank, $1,039.

Mr. Beene in two days has thus settled old claims amounting to $180,000.

Mr. Keene is very popular in Wall street, and his old friends congratulated him yesterday his old friends congratulated him yesterday on the evidences of returning prosperity. Looking over the list of judgments settled by him, it will be observed that in some instances the claims paid have been held by individuals and firms that have met with disaster in the last few years. Mr. Keene has endeavored to settle first with those in pressing need of the money. Said one of Mr. Keene's friends:

"Mr. Keene failed in 1883. From that day he has struggled to pay off all claims against him. All told he has settled over $1,000,000 in debts. He has done this many times at a disadvantage to himself. Many times he has been reported to have made great strikes in the street. The publication of those stories has given him endless annoyance, because those having claims against him have on those occasions rushed to him and asked for a settlement. He has assured them at all times that if they will only be patient all claims will be settled in full."

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE

for April contains the first of a notable series of articles by high authorities on

THE POOR IN GREAT CITIES.

There will be given in these articles an accurate and comprehen-sive account of the actual life and conditions of the poor in large centres and the means which are being employed to better them.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS

will be a feature of great importance. All are drawn by artists from life or from photographs taken under the supervision of the authors.

THE SOCIAL AWAKING IN LONDON.

by Robert A. Woods, is the opening chapter in the series, and to many readers the extent of the work among the London poor described by Mr. Woods, who lived for some time at Toynbee Hall, will be a revelation. The illustrations (numbering 25) are drawn by Hugh Thompson, the English

FURTHER ARTICLES:

Jacob A. Riis. (May.) Life in New York Tenements, as Seen by City Missionary, by Rev. William T. Elsing. (June.)

The Andover House Work in Boston, by Prof. Wm. J. Tucker. Among the Poor in Chicago, by Joseph Kirkland, author of "Zury." (July.)

The Schools for Street Arabs in Paris, by Edmund R. Spearman. The Poor in the Great Cities of Italy, by Madame Mario.

Laws and Agencies to Protect the Poor and Prevent Pauperism, by Oscar Craig. A London Riverside Parish, by Walter Besant.

Another important series is begun in the April Issue, entitled HISTORIC MOMENTS,

The aim of which is to give brief pen pictures of important events in politics, history, and invention, by eyewitnesses and participants in them. These articles are to be instantaneous photographs, as it were, of the culmination of events. The first article is entitled "The Impeachment Trial," and is by Edmund G. Ross, ex-Senator from Kansas, who was one of the seven Republican Senators who voted Not Guilty" with the Democrats and so secured the acquittal of President Andrew Johnson.

Among other subjects to be treated will be: THE CHICAGO FIRE,

THE FIRST NEWS MESSAGE BY TELE-GRAPH. THE FIRST WORD BY TELEPHONE, THE LAST SPIKE OF THE UNION PA-CIFIC,

THE RESUMPTION OF SPECIE PAY-MENT. Among other articles in this

in South Africa—"the future gold fields of the world." The article gains additional value from the fact that Mr. Mandy, its author, is not now in the service of the Chartered Company, and writes of this region in an entirely independent way. (Illustrated).

Another fully illustrated article is E. S. Nadal's account of "THE NEW PARKS of the City of New York," which describes that interesting region (3,848 acres) which has been thrown open to the public by the city at an expense of more than nine million dollars. "CHARLES KEENE OF

PUNCIL." who died not long ago, after a connection with Punch which extended from its earlier years, is sympathetically written about by George Somes Layard, his biographer. "PARIS THEATRES AND

CONCERTS" is the third of William F. Apthorp's of the number includes a second installment of Robert Grant's goodnatured satire, "The Reflections of a Married Man," and another installment of Stevenson's "Wrecker," which brings the story up to the narrative of the mysterious man on whom the plot of the tale hinges. There are besides two short stories -"A Case of Conscience," by Beatrice Witte, and "Of the Blood Royal," by William Maynadier Browne.

THE POINT OF VIEW

discusses "Spare Time," "Politics and Public Opinion," and "Maupassant. Copies are for sale at all news-
